New English website www.asisi.de presents
world's largest panoramas

Berlin, 20 January 2010

Asisi Visual Culture from Berlin releases its new English website. The website www.asisi.de presents Yadegar Asisi's panoramas – the largest panoramas in the world in refurbished historic gasometers in Dresden and Leipzig in Germany.

The Asisi Panometer in Dresden shows »1756 Dresden« – Unfold the Myth. The monumental 360° panorama takes us back in time to the magnificent epoque of Dresden Baroque. The panorama presents an original-size picture, 105 by 27 metres in size, showing the royal seat of Saxony in the year 1756, the only one of its kind in the world. The panorama shows the city from sunrise to sunset with an alternating day and night show, returning the Florence on the river Elbe to its former baroque splendour.

In the Asisi Panometer Leipzig, however, the 360° panorama AMAZONIA transports its visitors to the fascinating world of the rainforest in Brasil. True to scale and monumental in size – 100 metres long and 30 metres high – it reveals the beauty and complexity of the Amazon Rainforest, in a seemingly impenetrable sea of green. Standing on the viewing platform, at the centre of the panorama, the visitor has a magnificent view deep into the rainforest all around him, as though he were standing in a clearing. The panoramic experience AMAZONIA in Leipzig is rounded off by an alternating day and night show and tropical sound effects. Do also bear in mind that the German city of Leipzig has been voted as one of the top destinations to visit in the year 2010.

The 360° panoramic projects are accompanied by thematic exhibitions showing a large number of anamorphoses, exhibits, films and especially composed sound effects and music by Eric Babak. Appointments can be made for special guided tours of the exhibition, both for individuals and for groups. A large number of events are also held relating to the exhibitions.

Asisi Visual Culture GmbH

The cultural organisation Asisi Visual Culture GmbH, based in Berlin, has set itself the task of promoting the special field of visual culture created by Yadegar Asisi – the panorama.

Visual culture comes from visual experience – this is the message conveyed to us by the artist Yadegar Asisi – and his aim is to bring it to life in his panoramic pictures. Asisi Visual Culture GmbH makes this new and individual form of visual culture available to people of all age groups, social strata and levels of education in an attractive, understandable and – most importantly – in an emotional way. Of course, all projects are backed up by a constantly high standard of artistic realisation and sound scientific research. The visual projects and experiences on cultural themes aim to encourage the visitors to look around in wonder.
